people may come people may go your life should be in flow erase memories which make you sad always believe you are not bad you'll never be the best it's highly unlikely and untrue there's always someone better at what you love to do

The lights keep on blinking, but we never stop thinking.
While everyone hopes for a better tomorrow, you just hope for a present with much less sorrow don't be like a water which gets fit in a container be like a vapour which don't like to be in a container in a world full of lies and fake people you need to believe in yourself you are only true to yourself
